I was reading an article the other day that states that with all the technology of our time, it is very easy to rely on these gadgets for every waking minute of our life. Because of this, we do not give enough time for our brains and minds to relax, be at peace and be creative. And this is when new ideas are formed. The good news is that creativity is not purely an inborn trait – we all have the potential to be more creative. Our challenge is tapping into this!

"For something to be creative, it can't just be novel," says Harvard psychology professor Shelley Carson, author of Your Creative Brain: Seven Steps to Maximize Imaginatino, Productivity, and Innovation in Your Life. "It has to be useful as well."

Here are some ideas to keep our brains alert:

If you want to excel at something, learn about it as much as possible. Immerse yourself in it. In order to come up with ideas, you need to have information from which to draw.

Try some brain games and work out both sides of the brain.

Listen to 30 minutes of instrumental music a day as studies have shown it helps your mind wander.

And problem solve. I never thought problem solving was very creative but "problem solving is showing ingenuity by looking at things in fresh ways" and we can all do this daily!

So enjoy a month of creativity and if you would like to borrow some brain games, you are welcome to come and see me for a visit as I would love to share some!

Have a wonderful March!

Resident Spotlight

RCFE License 198601953

Our resident Spotlight for March is: Our famous Horse Trainer, Henry Moreno. Henry was born in California on

Tizna and Sangue. Henry has two

September 17th, 1929. He was raised on a ranch in Corona California where he milked 120 cows a day. Henry's father was a rancher and had a lot of horses and cattle. Henry started off training quarter horses and later he bred thoroughbred race horses. He worked seven days a weel - 365 days a year. He is best known as the conditioner of two powerful, multiple stakes-winning South American mares, daughters and one son. Sundays was always an important day for the family. His children would wear fine clothes and attend the races. Every morning Henry still goes to the Santa Anita Race Track to spend time with the horses. Henry has such a passion for horses. Winston Churchill once said "No hour of life is wasted that is spent in the saddle".

Still Significant Program

Our residents continue to make a different in people's life's. Recently our residents visited the City of Hope and delivered care packages, the residents themselves had put together. Unfortunately, we were not allowed to visit with the patients due to their condition but the City of Hope Representative assured us the patients would receive the care packages. The Our residents and team were given a tour and our residents loved learning how the City of Hope was founded and about new advances in medical technology and breakthroughs the City of Hope is offering to its patients. We continue to offer a Crochet Club and the residents will be crocheting scarfs for other organizations and hospitals.

We have also begun the process of volunteering and donating goods to other organizations such as, Union Station Homeless Services and San Gabriel Humane Society to continue our mission, lending a helping hand to those who are in need and to make a difference in someone's life.

Employee of the Month

I have a passion for caring for people, especially because it's a profession that never stops giving. Being a nurse gives me an opportunity to learn new things every day, and the opportunity for growth is almost unlimited. When I'm not eing a nurse, I love being a chef at home. ove bringing my family and friends together with my food. When time permits love to travel and explore many places!

Kensey's Corner

Hello everyone, it's me Kensey! Guess what! I had my first appearance on television last month. Did you watch me? Boy all that training really paid off. I got to live here with all of you at the Kensington. At first I wasn't the most focused student but learning the seven most common commands really helped. What are the seven commands? Sit, down, come, off, don't touch and heel. Now that I've been taught good manners I am a certified therapy dog. Yay! I've been told I'm a perfect dog for this job! Till next time have a great day! Let's Hear From You

We love to receive feedback and appreciate your time in sharing about your experiences using the Kensington Moments Cards. We would also like to encourage you to follow our Facebook page for great pictures and updates, and feel free to give us a review on Yelp or Google!

Kensington Men's Club

Our first presentation of the Kensington Men's club was a revving success! We had almost 20 of our residents attend and discuss the Past, Present, and Future of the Automobile industry! But, because of the conflict with the Assisted Living Outing on Wednesdays, the presentation will be moved to 2pm. So, our next presentation will be on March 14th, and will be about the 21st Century Space Race! Our luncheon will then be held on March 28th in the AL Cinema!
